PREFACE

This is one of a series of volumes presenting final results of the 1958 Census of Business Statistics for Wholesale Trade are contained in two volumes—Volume IV and this volume. The 1958 Census of Business, covering Wholesale Trade, Retail Trade, Selected Services, and Public Warehousing, was authorized by law under Title 13 U.S.C. Previous business censuses covered the years 1929, 1933, 1935, 1939, 1948, and 1954.

The cooperation of the Bureau of Old-Age and Survivors Insurance of the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare and the Internal Revenue Service of the Treasury Department in permitting use of certain of their records was important to the conduct of the 1958 Census of Business. This cooperation made it possible to conduct the census at a materially lower cost than would otherwise be the case and also made it unnecessary for a large number of business establishments to prepare special census reports.

The Bureau of the Census also acknowledges the advice and counsel made available through the Census Advisory Committees of the following organizations during the planning phase of the Census: The American Marketing Association; the American Statistical Association; the National Association of Wholesalers, and other wholesale associations; the Newspaper Advisory Committee, composed of representatives from the major associations in the newspaper industry; and similar assistance from many other private and public organizations. The Bureau also wishes to acknowledge the excellent cooperation of business firms in completing the required census forms.

Timely publicity given to the Business Census by chambers of commerce, business organizations, trade papers, local newspapers, and television and radio stations aided greatly in informing businessmen of the nature and objectives of the census and facilitated the collection of census reports.

Primary responsibility for the 1958 Census of Business program was centered in the Business Division of the Bureau of the Census, under the direction of Harvey Kailin, Chief, and Louis Greenberg, Assistant Chief, Programs. The Census program was under the direct supervision of Henry Wulff, Chief of the Census Program Branch. John Albright was Chief and Earl B. Wiley, Assistant Chief of the Wholesale Trade Section. They were assisted by Carl M. Schaffer, Elizabeth S. Owen, Charles Settlemyer, and Russell B. Washington. Staff assistance was provided by Ralph S. Woodruff, Assistant Division Chief, Research and Methodology; Frank A. Cirillo, Chief, County Business Patterns and Special Surveys Branch; and Max Shor, Chief, Program Research Branch.

Processing of the 1958 Census of Business reports was performed in the Economic Operations Division under the Direction of M. D. Bingham, Chief. The processing was under the direct supervision of Irving Weiss, Assistant Chief, Processing, assisted by Max E. Van Horn, Charles Merzel, Donald E. Young, Wesley R. Grier, Bernard M. Kinney, and Ruth H. Mills. Systems and procedures were developed and supervised by Sol Dolleck, Assistant Chief, Systems, assisted by Samuel Schweid, Nathan Lesowitz, and Jack Margolis. Jack Scharff developed and supervised the electronic computer programing work, assisted by Melvin A. Hendry, Jr. Quality control plans and procedures were developed and supervised by Herman H. Fasteau, assisted by George Minton and Alfred J. McKeon. Scheduling, progress reporting, and related staff work were supervised by Wilbur J. Mathias and Margaret R. Rommel.

The Electronic Systems Division under Robert F. Drury, Chief, provided electronic computation services. Rudolph M. Micoly and James W. Shores supervised the scheduling and operation of equipment, Edgar D. Morgan and William M. Gaines supervised equipment engineering and maintenance, and Mrs. Dorothy P. Armstrong supervised general-purpose computer programing activities.

Other divisions and offices of the Bureau which contributed to the various phases of the census were (1) the Machine Tabulation Division, C. F. Van Aken, Chief: Joseph S. Pewterbaugh and Emil Gorgovits developed techniques and procedures and Frank McGrath, assisted by Emma Gass, supervised the card punching; (2) the Geography Division, William T. Fay, Chief: Robert Klove and Robert Hagan, Assistant Chiefs, assisted by Toshi Toki, supervised the preparation of the maps and charts and participated in the devising of procedures for geographic allocation of reports; (3) the Administrative Service Division, Everett H. Burke, Chief: Robert H. Brooks, Chief, Graphics Branch, was responsible for preparing Census of Business publications for reproduction; (4) the Statistical Reports Division, Edwin D. Goldfield, Chief, and William Lerner, Assistant Chief: Sheldon Klein, Chief, Presentation Practices Branch, and Julia Moring reviewed all table forms and text material and assisted on publication problems; (5) the Office of the Chief Economic Statistician, Julius Shiskin: Harold T. Goldstein was responsible for the preparation of kind-of-business coding manuals; (6) the Bureau of the Census Operations Office at Jeffersonville, Ind., Robert D. Krook, Executive Officer, where many of the census processing operations were conducted; (7) the Personnel Division, James P. Taff, Chief; and (8) the Budget and Management Division, Charles H. Alexander, Chief.

INTRODUCTION

AUTHORITY AND SCOPE

The 1958 Census of Business along with the 1958 Censuses of Manufactures and Mineral Industries was required by law under 13 U.S.C., section 131 and 224. These censuses covered businesses operated in the continental United States, Alaska, Hawaii, Guam, and the Virgin Islands. A separate Census of Business and Manufactures for 1958 was also conducted in Puerto Rico jointly with the Commonwealth Government.

The 1958 Census of Business covered Wholesale Trade, Retail Trade, Selected Services, and Public Warehousing. This volume provides findings for that portion of the 1958 Census of Business which relates to Wholesale Trade and to Public Warehousing.

COMPARISON OF THE 1954 AND 1958 CENSUSES

In all major respects, the 1954 and 1958 Censuses were conducted under similar conditions and procedures. Strict comparability in the data for the two censuses is limited by the following factors:

1. The physical area of a number of urban places in the 1958 Census is not the same as it was in 1954 because of annexations and other boundary changes which have occurred since the 1954 Census. This factor should be taken into consideration in evaluating changes in census findings from 1954, as in each census the statistics for urban places are in accordance with the boundaries for those places in the census year.

2. Revisions made in the 1957 edition of the Standard Industrial Classification (SIC) Manual have necessitated the following changes in establishment classifications used in the 1954 Census:

   a. "Air conditioning, Commercial Refrigeration Equipment" has been shifted from "Machinery, Equipment Supplies" to "Hardware; Plumbing, Heating Equipment, Supplies."

   b. Wholesale coal establishments have been shifted from "Other Miscellaneous Products" to "Metals, Minerals (Except Petroleum Products, Scrap)."

   c. Ready-mixed concrete distributors, now part of SIC Industry 3273, have been transferred out of the Wholesale Trade Division.

   d. Wallpaper wholesale establishments have been shifted from "Paper, Paper Products" to "Other Miscellaneous Products."

The 1954 data in the comparative tables, 1958 and 1954, of this volume have been adjusted to put them on a comparable basis with the data for 1958 insofar as items "a" and "b" are concerned. Tables 1B and 1D have been adjusted for item "c," and table 1B, for item "d." In the summary of findings tables, 1954 data have been adjusted to the 1958 scope except as explained in footnotes.

CENSUS DISCLOSURE RULES

In accordance with census law, any data which would disclose the operation of an individual establishment or business organization are not published. The number of establishments in a kind of business is not considered a disclosure by these rules, so that this item is frequently shown in instances where other items of information for the same kind of business or locality are suppressed.

SUMMARY OF FINDINGS

GENERAL SUMMARY

Sales.—Sales of wholesale establishments in the conterminous United States (Alaska and Hawaii excluded) totaled $285 billion for the year 1958, an increase of 21.8 percent over the $234 billion recorded in the next previous Business Census year, 1954, and 335.9 percent above the $65 billion in 1929, the year of the first Business Census of the United States. The $285 billion in 1958 was composed of $122 billion sales by merchant wholesalers who buy and sell merchandise at wholesale on their own account; $88 billion by manufacturer operated wholesale sales branches and sales offices; $20 billion by petroleum bulk stations and terminals; $46 billion in sales transactions by merchandise agents and brokers operating at the wholesale level; and $9 billion by wholesale buyers and dealers in farm products, buying direct from farmers. Sales of merchant wholesalers increased from $28 billion in 1929 to $122 billion in 1958, or 331.2 percent.

That wholesale trade kept pace with our growing economy is illustrated by the fact that sales of all wholesale establishments combined increased 335.9 percent and of merchant wholesalers 331.2 percent from 1929 to 1958, an interval in which our gross national product increased 323.1 percent, and in which sales of retail stores increased 317.9 percent.

The increase since 1929 of 335.9 percent in wholesale sales reflects, in part, a 92.6 percent rise in the wholesale price index as reported by the Bureau of Labor Statistics, but after allowing for this change, there remains a substantial increment representing growth in the physical volume of wholesale trade. Per capita physical volume increase also is indicated, as the increase in population from 122 million in 1929 to 174 million in 1958 amounted only to 42.9 percent; thus, the combined population-price increase was some 175.2 percent compared with the wholesale sales increase of 335.9 percent.

Table A presents these and other summary facts for the Business Census years 1929, 1939, 1948, 1954, and 1958.

Establishments.—At the end of 1958 there were in the United States 285,996 establishments, with one or more paid employees, which were primarily engaged in marketing merchandise at wholesale. In this number, each wholesale location of organizations operating more than one place of business is counted separately. Except for the earlier census years 1929 and 1939, the number is limited to wholesale places of business that employed one or more persons on a payroll basis; unincorporated businesses without paid employees are not included.

An establishment is considered to be primarily engaged in wholesale trade when its principal business is buying and/or selling merchandise at wholesale, or in acting as an agent or broker marketing merchandise at wholesale. "At wholesale" includes marketing or selling merchandise to retailers; to other wholesale organizations; and to industrial, commercial, professional, institutional, and similar users.

The number of establishments increased for each of the Business Census years from 163,830 in 1929 to 190,379 in 1939, to 216,099 in 1948, to 250,322 in 1954, and to 185,996 in 1958. The actual increase was somewhat larger than indicated by these numbers since the censuses prior to 1948 included both employer and nonemployer establishments.

Inventories.—Stocks of merchandise on hand for sale at the end of 1958 were valued, at cost, at $15 billion, up 14.5 percent from 1954. They were up 290.9 percent in 1958 over the end of 1939, but only 187.6 percent over 1929.

Employment and Payroll.—Wholesale trade establishments provided employment for 2,797,341 paid employees and 157,462 owners of unincorporated businesses as of mid-November 1958, or a total of 2,954,803 persons. These counts do not include those employed at administrative offices or auxiliary units servicing wholesale establishments, data for which are presented in the Miscellaneous Chapter of this volume, but not in other tabulations.

Payroll of wholesale establishments amounted to $13.2 billion for the year 1958 compared with $10.9 billion in as it covers all types of establishments primarily engaged in selling merchandise at wholesale—merchants, distributors, exporters, importers; merchandise agents, brokers, commission merchants, manufacturers' sales branches and sales offices; and dealers buying products from farmers. Census data are classified and findings are presented in accordance with the SIC system. For presentation purposes, wholesale trade is divided into five type-of-operation groups as listed below and each wholesale establishment is assigned to one of the classifications according to the character of its operations or to the nature of functions performed:

Merchant wholesalers
Manufacturers' sales branches and sales offices
Petroleum bulk stations and terminals
Merchandise agents and brokers
Assemblers of farm products

These five groups are further subdivided into twenty-six sub-types of operation, as described in Appendix B, "Procedures and Definitions." Summary information is presented for each of the types of operation in table 1C, page 1-11, of this volume.

Type of Operation.—Wholesale trade, as defined in the Standard Industrial Classification (SIC) Manual, includes more than is indicated in the term "wholesaler" or "jobber"

Merchant wholesalers constituted the most important type group in 1958 with 189,728 establishments and $122 billion in sales, or 42.7 percent of the total for all wholesale establishments. Manufacturers' sales branches and sales offices were second from the standpoint of sales, with 30.8 percent of the total, but ranked fourth in the count of establishments. Merchandise agents and brokers ranked third in establishment count and third in sales, with 16.3 percent of the total. Petroleum bulk stations contributed 7.1 percent of the sales, and assemblers of farm products, 3.2 percent.

Each of the type groups has recorded sales gains over the period covered by Business Censuses, with the most significant gain 1958 over 1929 recorded by petroleum bulk stations and terminals—742.3 percent. Of the five type groups, manufacturers' sales branches and sales offices recorded the second largest gain 1958 over 1929 at 442.5 percent; followed by merchant wholesalers, 331.2 percent; merchandise agents and brokers, 219.8 percent; and assemblers of farm products, 120.3 percent. Assemblers of farm products, the only major type of operation group which declined in sales volume in the period from 1954 to 1958, was also the only major type group with a decrease in sales from 1948 to 1954.

Kind of Business.—In addition to being classified functionally by type of operation, each wholesale establishment is assigned a kind-of-business classification according to principal commodity lines sold or trade designation for purposes of compiling data by kinds of business or trades. The method of classifying and the kinds of business are described in Appendix B, "Procedures and Definitions." Data are presented in table 1A of chapter I in the kind-of-business detail of the Standard Industrial Classification (SIC) Manual. In the same table, type-of-operation information is shown in summary and for each kind of business. Considerably more kind-of-business detail for 1958 is given in table 1C of chapter I.

Among the 39 broad kinds of business into which all wholesale establishments are classified in accordance with the SIC system and for which data are shown separately in table 1A, "Farm products" (cotton, grain, livestock, leaf tobacco, etc.) ranked first from the standpoint of 1958 sales, $28.6 billion. "Metals and minerals" (coal, ferrous and nonferrous metals) ranked second with $22.1 billion, followed in turn by "Other miscellaneous products," $22.0 billion, "Petroleum bulk stations and terminals," $20.1 billion; "Commercial and industrial machinery, equipment, and supplies," $18.3 billion; "Groceries and related products, n.e.c.," $18.1 billion; "Automobile and other motor vehicles," $15.8 billion; and "Lumber and construction materials," $10.6 billion.

Merchant wholesalers (commonly referred to as wholesalers, distributors, jobbers, supply houses, etc.) who buy and sell merchandise on their own account at wholesale constitute the most important of the five major types of operation with $121.7 billion of the $285.0 billion sales for all type groups combined. Table D presents data on sales of this type group and of 59 kinds of business within the group for the years 1958, 1954, 1948, 1939, and 1929.

Comparing 1958 with 1954, the automotive trades recorded the largest relative gains in dollar sales, 202.6

percent for "Automobiles and other motor vehicles," and 97.9 percent for "Tires and tubes;" followed by "Electronic parts and equipment distributors," a relatively new trade, 72.0 percent. Other trades recording more than 50 percent increase in dollar sales, 1954 to 1958, were "Petroleum products distributors," 69.7 percent; "Transportation equipment and supplies (except automotive) distributors," 63.9 percent; "Industrial chemicals and allied products distributors," 62.0 percent; "Professional equipment and supplies distributors," 57.0 percent; "Specialty-line electrical supplies and apparatus distributors," 56.3 percent; and "Commercial machinery and equipment distributors," 52.9 percent.

When 1958 sales are compared with 1929, the year of the first Business Census, the largest percentage increases in sales occurred in Construction machinery and equipment dealers; Amusement and sporting goods distributors; Farm and garden machinery and equipment wholesalers; Transportation equipment and supplies (except automotive) distributors; Iron and steel products distributors; Professional equipment and supplies distributors; Electrical appliances-TV-radio set distributors; Industrial machinery, equipment, and supplies distributors; Stationery and office supplies wholesalers; and Iron and steel scrap dealers, in the order named.

Wholesale Trade Geographically.—Wholesale trade is measured geographically for Census purposes according to the location of the establishment from which the business is conducted, and all of the sales, employment, payroll, etc., are credited accordingly, regardless of the size of the sales territory covered. All of the business of a wholesale establishment located in Chicago, for ex-

Regions, Geographic Divisions, States.—Table 1E, Chapter 1, presents a summary of wholesale trade, 1958 and 1954, for regions, geographic divisions, and States by type of operation. Table 1F presents wholesale trade data for each of the regions and geographic divisions by kind of business; and table 1J presents data on establishments and sales in each State by kind of business. The accompanying text table E presents 1958 sales by regions, divisions, and States, for all types of operation combined, and separately for merchant wholesalers, and provides trend information for the five Business Census years 1929, 1939, 1948, 1954, and 1958.

Measured in terms of 1958 sales, all types of operation combined, New York led all other States with $54.9 billion, or 19.3 percent of the total for the United States. California was second with 9.1 percent, replacing Illinois which had been second in 1954. Illinois with 8.3 percent ot the total was third; followed by Pennsylvania, 5.7 percent; Ohio, 5.1 percent; and Texas, 5.0 percent. Other States with three percent or more of the 1958 total were Michigan, Missouri, Massachusetts, and New Jersey, in the order named.

When sales of merchant wholesalers, only, are considered the same general pattern is noted; New York was first among the States, California was second, and Illinois, third, but Texas was in fourth position. Other leading States were the same as for all types of operation combined, but in a slightly different order.

Considered over the period of time since the first Business Census, wholesale trade continued to move West and South. The Northeastern States, for example, dropped from approximately 40 percent of the total for the United States in 1929 to 33 percent in 1958; and the North Central States declined from 32.7 to 30.7 percent of the total. On the other hand, the South increased from 17.5 percent to 22.0 percent and the West from 9.9 to 14.5 percent of the national total.

Considered by geographic division, the portion of the United States total accounted for by New England, Middle Atlantic, and West North Central declined, the East North Central remained about the same; with other divisions recording relative gains. The same general pattern is noted for merchant wholesalers as for all types of wholesale operation combined.

Standard Metropolitan Statistical Areas (SMSA).—These areas were defined by an inter-agency committee of the Federal Government, under the direction of the Federal Bureau of the Budget, for purposes of compiling and presenting a wide variety of data on a uniform area basis. Titles and definitions of the 189 areas in the continental United States and in Hawaii, together with the two consolidated areas of New York and Chicago, as recorded in a Bureau of the Budget document dated June 30, 1959, appear in Appendix D of this volume. Comparative data for all wholesale trade, 1958 and 1954, are presented for the areas in table 1G, chapter 1, and table 1K presents information for the larger areas by kind of business.

A high concentration of wholesale trade is noted in the larger Standard Metropolitan Statistical Areas (text table F). Whereas the 10 largest areas, as measured by population, accounted for only 24.3 percent of the inhabitants, they contributed 43.3 percent of the sales, 40.8 percent of the payroll, and 35.8 percent of the employees of wholesale trade. The 24 largest SMSA's contained slightly more than one-third of the population but the wholesale trade establishments in them accounted for over one-half of all of the wholesale business. At the other end of the scale, the "remainder of the United States" (areas not in any SMSA) contained 38.8 percent of the population but accounted for less than 20 percent of the wholesale business of the United States.

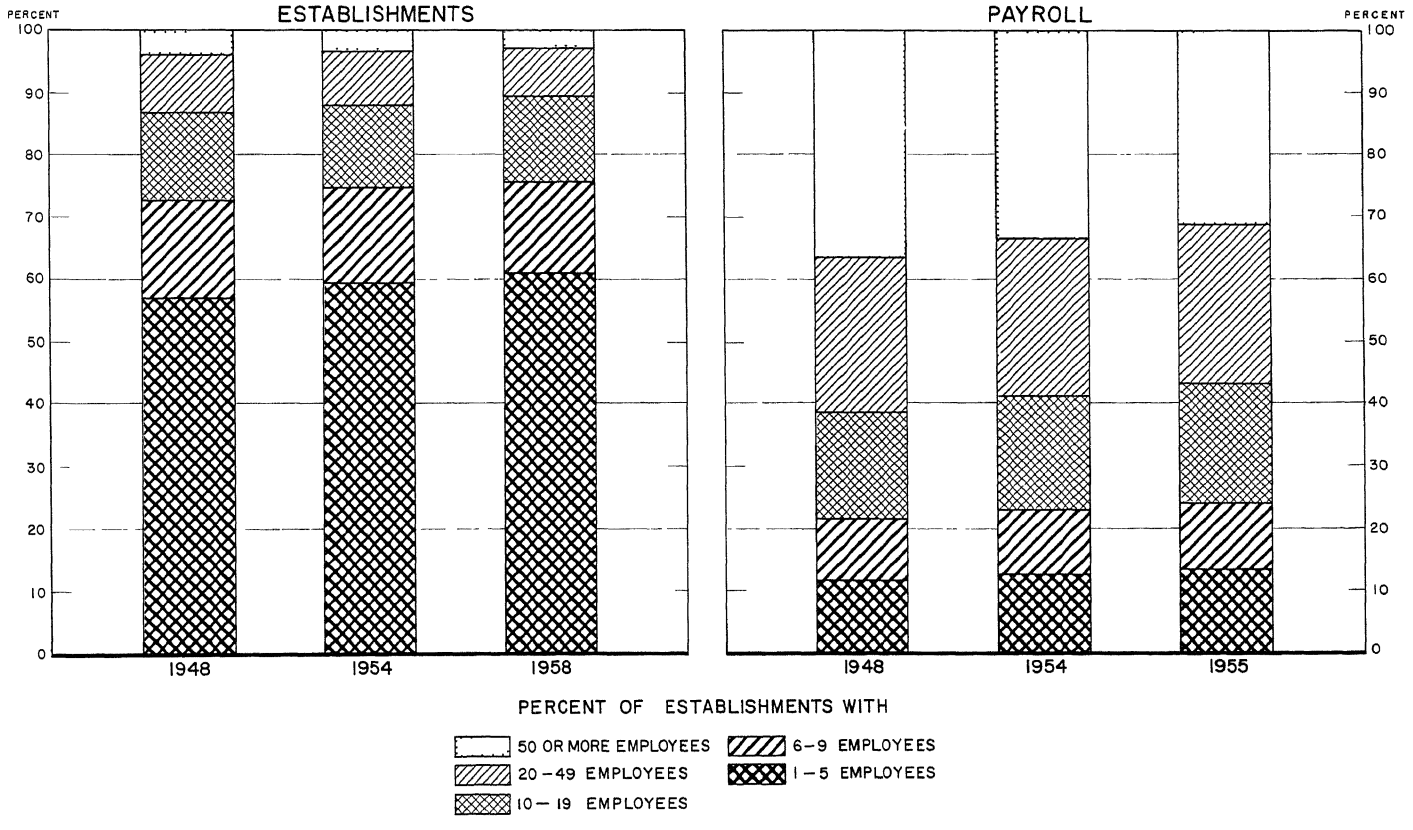
Standard Metropolitan Statistical Areas with 500,000 inhabitants or more in 1960 are listed by population size in table G, a table which also presents comparative information, 1958 and 1954, on wholesale establishment counts and sales. The New York SMSA, because of a change in area definition, dropped slightly, from 18.6 to 16.8 percent, 1954 to 1958, of the national total of wholesale sales; but it ranked first by a considerable margin in terms of population 1960 (wholesale trade volume, 1954, and wholesale trade volume, 1958). The Los Angeles-Long Beach SMSA ranked second in population but third in wholesale trade in both 1958 and 1954. Chicago, which ranked third in population was second in wholesale trade. Philadelphia, Detroit, San Francisco, and Boston areas ranked fourth, fifth, sixth, and seventh, both in population and in 1958 wholesale trade sales. Areas that rated higher by five positions or more in wholesale sales, 1958, than in population, 1960, included Minneapolis-St. Paul; Dallas, Kansas City; Atlanta; New Orleans; Portland, Oreg.; Indianapolis; Birmingham; Memphis, Jersey City, Fort Worth, Syracuse; Hartford; and Oklahoma City.

Counties.—Data on wholesale trade, 1958, are presented by counties, and for cities of 5,000 inhabitants or more within counties, in table 102. A separate table is presented for each State in Volume IV—Wholesale Trade Area Statistics, 1958 Census of Business. Comparative information on wholesale trade, 1958 and 1954, is presented for the 100 largest counties in terms of wholesale trade payroll in table 1H of chapter 1 of this volume. As shown in the accompanying text table H, of the 50 largest counties in population order, Los Angeles County, Calif., ranked first in population in 1960, but third in wholesale trade sales, 1958 and 1954. New York County, N.Y., ranked seventh in population but first in wholesale trade, both Business Census years. Cook County, Ill., ranked second in population, 1960, and wholesale trade, 1958 and 1954. Wayne County, Mich., ranked third in population but fourth in wholesale trade in both 1958 and 1954. Kings County, N.Y., ranked 4th in terms of population but 21st in 1958, and 20th in 1954, in wholesale trade. Philadelphia was in fifth position on these items for both years.



Among the 50 largest counties, those that ranked somewhat higher—five positions or more—in wholesale trade than in population were New York, N.Y.; Dallas, Tex.; Hamilton, Ohio; Hennepin, Minn., Suffolk, Mass.; St. Louis City, Mo., San Francisco, Calif., Marion, Ind., Jefferson, Ala., Orleans Parish, La.; Shelby, Tenn., Jackson, Mo.; Jefferson, Ky.; Hudson, N.J.; and Monroe, N.Y.

SIZE OF WHOLESALE ESTABLISHMENTS

Sales Size of Merchant Wholesalers (Tables 2A, 2B, and 2C).—Merchant wholesalers are grouped by dollar sales size of establishment in the accompanying text table J, with comparative Business Census information, 1958 and 1954.

A high concentration in number of establishments is noted in the lower sales size brackets. 32,276 with annual sales of less than $50,000 each; and an additional 26,347 with sales of $50,000 to $99,000. These 58,623 establishments, almost one-third of the total number, contributed only 2.2 percent of the sales of all merchant wholesalers. Their operating expense ratios (overhead expenses including payroll) were the highest; 30.7 percent for the group under $50,000 and 28.2 percent for the $50,000 to $99,000 group—1958 data.

Only 976 establishments reported sales of $10 million or more in 1958, but total sales for this group amounted to $23.3 billion, or 19.1 percent of sales for all merchant wholesalers. An additional 2,112 establishments each reported sales of $5 to $10 million for a total of $14.5 billion. Thus, a total of 3,088 establishments, or less than two percent of the total number, each reported sales for 1958 of $5 million or more. Their combined total sales amounted to $37.7 billion, or almost one-third of the total.

A mild upward movement in the sales size of establishments is noted when 1958 is compared with 1954, partly due to a rise in the wholesale price index, as noted in table A. In 1958, establishments with sales of less than $100,000 contributed 2.2 percent of the total for all size groups as compared with 2.5 percent in 1954. Each of the sales-size groups under $500,000 accounted for a slightly smaller portion of total sales in 1958 than in 1954; whereas increases are noted in the larger sales-size groups.

Operating expenses (including payroll), expressed as a percentage of sales, were highest for the establishments in the smallest sales-size group and consistently decreased in each succeeding sales-size group. The range was from 30.7 percent for the smallest sales-size class—less than $50,000 annual sales—to 6.4 percent for the "$10,000,000 and over" group. Although the same general pattern held true in 1954 as in 1958, the larger sales-size group showed a rise in operating expenses as a percent of sales when compared with 1954, while the smaller size groups, with one exception, showed a decrease.

Employment Size of Establishment (Tables 2D, 2E, and 2F).—Wholesale establishments were classified by employment size in both the 1958 and 1954 Wholesale Censuses according to the number of paid employees as of mid-November, and a summary is presented by employee-size group in the accompanying text table K. Establishments which had paid employees during the year but none as of mid-November are included with the "1 paid employee" class. A high concentration of establishments in the smaller employee-size brackets is shown with 106,324 of the 285,996 establishments in 1958 having had fewer than three employees in mid-November of that year. Moreover, these 106,324 establishments, almost 40 percent of the total number, provided only 4.2 percent of the employment and contributed only 4.2 percent of the payroll of all wholesale businesses. At the other extreme, 8,117 establishments each had 50 or more paid employees. These 8,117 establishments (50 or more employees) accounted for 30.8 percent of the employment and 31.4 percent of wholesale trade payroll in 1958.

During the period from 1948 to 1958 little change occurred in the employment-size distribution of wholesale establishments. Such changes as there are appear to be in the direction of increase in the proportion of employment and payroll of the small size establishments. For example, establishments in each of the employee-size groups with fewer than six paid employees increased in 1958 compared with 1948 both in their payroll and employment percentages of the total for all wholesale trade. At the other end of the scale, establishments with higher employment recorded a progressively smaller portion of total wholesale trade employment and payroll.

RECEIVABLES AND BAD-DEBT LOSSES

Forms used in enumerating merchant wholesalers in connection with the 1958 Business Census provided for reporting end-of-year receivables, accounts and notes receivable outstanding at the end of the year, and bad-debt losses or receivables written off during the year as uncollectable. Results from these inquiries are presented in Chapter 3—for the country as a whole in table 3A, and for Standard Metropolitan Statistical Areas in tables 3B and 3C.

Of the 189,728 merchant wholesale establishments in the United States, 108,912 reported end-of-year receivables, 13,280 reported that they sold for cash only, hence, they had no receivables at the end of the year, while 67,536 did not report on this inquiry. Sales of those reporting end-of-year receivables amounted to $88.4 billion, of all-cash establishments, $4.3 billion, and for those not reporting the information, $29.0 billion. In the accompanying text table L, data on receivables and bad-debt losses are presented for merchant wholesalers in total, and for selected kinds of business. Kinds of business are arranged in descending order of receivables as a percentage of sales. For merchant wholesalers as a group, end-of-year receivables amounted to 9.6 percent of sales of those reporting on this item of information.

Among the kinds of business shown in table L, jewelry wholesalers had the highest receivables ratio, 21.4 percent, or more than one-fifth of the year's business on the books at the end of the year. Dental supply houses had the second highest ratio, 18.6; followed by oil well supply houses, 17.7 percent, and construction machinery and equipment dealers, 16.2 percent.

At the other end of the scale, reading from the bottom of the table, general-line grocery wholesalers reported end-of-year receivables amounting to only 3.8 percent of 1958 sales. Other kinds of business recording low ratios included tobacco distributors, fruit and vegetable wholesalers, meat wholesalers, beer and ale distributors, and confectionery wholesalers.

Bad-debt losses—receivables written off during the year as uncollectable—amounted to 0.15 percent of sales of those establishments reporting end-of-year receivables, or fifteen cents in bad-debt losses for each $100 in sales. Several trades—construction machinery and equipment dealers; plumbing and heating equipment distributors, tire and tube wholesalers; and electric appliance, radio and TV distributors—each reported 0.30 percent or more. Other kinds of business recording losses of 0.25 percent or more included jewelry wholesalers; construction materials distributors; and paint and varnish wholesalers.

Less than 0.10 percent losses were reported by dental supply houses; wines and distilled spirits wholesalers; general-line drug wholesalers; confectionery wholesalers; beer distributors; and general-line grocery wholesalers, with the lowest ratio 0.07 percent for general-line grocery wholesalers and confectionery wholesalers.

SALES BY CLASS OF CUSTOMER

Sales of merchant wholesalers and of assemblers of farm products are analyzed by class of customer for the United States in table 4A, and of merchant wholesalers in Standard Metropolitan Statistical Areas with 500,000 inhabitants or more in table 4B—chapter 4 of this volume. The accompanying text table M presents summary information for merchants as a group and separately for three trades: General-Line Grocery Wholesalers; Automotive Equipment, Tire, Tube Wholesalers, and Meat, Meat Products Wholesalers for the Census years 1958, 1954, 1948, and 1939.

Less than one-half, 45.9 percent, of the sales of merchant wholesalers were to retailers in 1958, about the same ratio as in 1954 (45.5 percent) and in 1948 (46.9 percent) but considerable less than the 58.9 percent in 1939. The portion of sales that went to industrial, institutional, commercial, professional, and other similar users, who normally buy for business use rather than resale of the goods in the form purchased, increased from 23.6 percent of the total in 1939 to 31.7 percent in 1958, the biggest change having come in the period between 1939 (23.6) and 1948 (31.7). Sales from one wholesale organization to another, sometimes referred to as sub-jobbing, increased from 11.6 percent of the total sales volume in 1939 to 13.7 percent in 1948, to 15.2 percent in 1954, and to 15.3 percent in 1958. "Sales to consumers and farmers"—the "retail" sales of wholesale establishments, including sales to their own employees—remained about the same for the various census years, at approximately two percent; and "export" business at approximately five percent of the total.

The pattern of sales by customer classes of general-line grocery wholesalers has remained about the same throughout the census years, with a modest increase, 1954 to 1958, in sales to retailers, offset by a decrease in institutional business, due in part to a tendency toward specialization in the latter business.

More than one-half, 55.7 percent, of the 1958 sales of automotive equipment, tire, tube wholesalers was to retailers and repair shops, a slightly higher percentage than in 1948 or 1954, but less than the 69.7 percent in 1939. A trend may be noted here toward "sub-jobbing," sales by one wholesale organization to another: 13.4 percent in 1939; 21.8 percent in 1948; 20.5 percent in 1954; and 27.2 percent in 1958.

A trend to "sub-jobbing" is also noted among meat wholesalers: 9.9 percent in 1939; 14.6 percent in 1948; 19.1 percent in 1954; and 26.3 percent in 1958. Conversely, the portion of sales that went to "retailers" and also to "consumers and farmers" has been declining.

LEGAL FORM OF ORGANIZATION

Chapter 5 of this volume presents information on wholesale trade, 1958, by legal form of organization. Table 5A and table 5B, for the United States as a whole, and table 5C, for States. Comparative information is presented in the accompanying text table N for the four Business Census years, 1958, 1954, 1948, and 1939, for wholesale trade, all types of operation combined; and separately for merchant wholesalers and for merchandise agents and brokers.

Corporations accounted for almost four-fifths, 79.0 percent, of the sales of all wholesale trade in 1958 and an increasing portion of the total since 1939. Conversely, unincorporated businesses (individual proprietorships and partnerships combined) dropped from 23.4 percent of the total sales volume in 1939 to 17.5 percent in 1958. A consistent decline is noted for individual or sole proprietorships: from 12.6 percent of the total sales in 1939 to 10.7 percent in 1948, to 9.7 percent in 1954, and to 8.5 percent in 1958. Partnerships recorded an increase from 10.8 percent in 1939 to 12.8 percent in 1948, following the war, then declined to 11.3 percent in 1954, and to 9.0 percent in 1958.

[1]Establishments without employees, accounting for less than 3 percent of sales, included in 1948 and 1939, but not in 1954 nor 1958.

A somewhat similar change is noted for merchant wholesalers as for wholesale trade as a whole with the trend less pronounced. Corporations contributed 76.1 percent of the sales of merchant wholesalers in 1958 compared with 73.8 percent in 1939; an increase of only 2.3 percentage points in two decades. Relatively speaking, both individual proprietorships and partnerships declined in importance over the two decades. individual proprietorships from 12.9 percent of all sales of merchant wholesalers in 1939 to 9.5 percent in 1958, and partnerships from 12.2 percent to 10.7 percent. As was true for all wholesale trade, partnerships recorded gains immediately following the war, but have since declined.

Unincorporated businesses were more significant among merchandise agents and brokers than among merchant wholesalers, but they accounted for only 43.4 percent of the 1958 business of this type-of-operation group—21.5 percent for individual proprietorships and 21.9 percent for partnerships. Corporations contributed 51.5 percent of the agent and broker business in 1958, whereas in previous Business Census years they accounted for slightly less than one-half of the total. In this type group, individual or sole proprietorships also recorded consistent declines 1939 to 1948, to 1954, to 1958, and partnerships increased their portion following the war, but have recorded a decline since to 21.9 percent in 1958, slightly lower than the 23.0 percent of the total recorded in prewar 1939.

COMMODITY-LINE SALES

Merchant wholesalers and assemblers of farm products were requested to analyze their 1958 business and to report, from records or on the basis of best possible approximations, their sales by commodity lines. Twelve different questionnaire forms were used in enumerating these segments of wholesale trade, each carrying a printed list of commodity lines appropriate to the kinds of business covered by the form. The commodity-line inquiries of the reporting forms, item 13 of Forms CB-50A through CB-50M, are reproduced in Appendix E of this volume.

Statistics compiled from the commodity-line inquiry appear in Chapter 6 in which tables 6A and 6B present data for Merchant Wholesalers; tables 6C and 6D for Assemblers of Farm Products; and tables 6E and 6F for Iron, Steel Scrap Dealers and for Waste Materials Dealers. The method of presenting the data is described on page App-3 of this volume.

Use of the tables may be illustrated by reference to the accompanying summary table P analyzing the sales of "Tobacco, Tobacco Products Distributors," SIC 5094. Of the 2,759 establishments in the United States primarily engaged in the trade in 1958, 2,220 reported their sales by commodity lines. Total sales of all 2,759 tobacco distributors amounted to $3,668,291,000 for the year. Sales of the 2,220 establishments analyzing their sales by commodity line amounted to $3,124,903,000, or 85.2 percent of the total for all establishments in the trade. Sales of the 539 establishments that did not report their sales by commodity lines amounted to $543,388,000.

The variety of products handled by tobacco distributors is illustrated by the fact that some 38 different commodity lines were sold in sufficient quantities to account for at least one-tenth of one percent of the total of all sales analyzed. This count does not include many minor lines sold by individual wholesalers but not common to the trade. Lines most significant to the trade—in addition to "cigarettes, cigars, tobacco" which accounted for 80.0 percent of all sales analyzed—included confectionery, sanitary tissues, toiletries and druggists sundries, smokers' supplies and pipes, together with various foods other than confectionery.

Of the $3,124,903,000 sales analyzed by commodity-lines, $9,540,000, or 0.3 percent, was "Pharmaceuticals, antibiotics, druggists chemicals, biologicals," code 22100. This commodity line was reported by 167 of the 2,220 distributors analyzing their sales. Total sales, all commodities, of the 167 establishments amounted to $231,305,000, of which 4.1 percent was for commodity line code 22100.

Historical Information.—Commodity-line information was developed for wholesale trade in the 1939, 1948, and 1954, as well as the 1958 Censuses of Business. Comparative summaries 1948, 1954, and 1958, are presented in the accompanying text table Q for Automotive Equipment, Tire, Tube Wholesalers; Electrical Appliances, Radio and TV set distributors; and for General-line Grocery Wholesalers.

PETROLEUM BULK STATIONS AND TERMINALS

A chapter of this volume is devoted to statistics for petroleum bulk stations and terminals (Chapter 7). A summary of storage capacity, 1958, 1954, and 1948, is presented for the United States as a whole in the accompanying table R, by product.

Storage capacity of the 29,623 petroleum bulk stations and terminals in the country totaled 14,719 million gallons at the end of 1958. This represented an increase of 17.8 percent over the 12,495 million gallons in 1954, and 89.5 percent over 1948. The 14,719 million gallons at the end of 1958 were assigned as follows: 533 million gallons, or 3.6 percent, to aviation gasoline; 5,763 million, or 39.2 percent, to other gasolines, 2,094 million, or 14.2 percent, to kerosene, range oil, and No. 1 fuel oil; 4,988 million, or 33.9 percent, to distillate fuels, and 1,341 million, or 9.1 percent, to residual fuels.

Space assigned to each of the products increased in the years from 1948 to 1958, and space for all products except residual fuels recorded increases 1948 to 1954. Distillate fuel oil space increased 23.7 percent, 1954 to 1958; residual fuels, 21.5 percent; aviation gasoline, 9.6 percent; other gasoline, 18.1 percent, and kerosene, range oil, and No. 1 fuel oil, 5.0 percent.

When 1958 is compared with 1948, distillate fuel oil space recorded the largest relative gains, 165.2 percent; space assigned to kerosene, range oil, and No. 1 fuel oils increased during the same period by 94.1 percent; gasolines (aviation and other combined) 72.4 percent; and residual fuels 16.0 percent.

MISCELLANEOUS SUBJECTS

A number of subjects are covered in this chapter as indicated in the Table of Contents on page 8-1. Some of these subjects are reviewed briefly in the following paragraphs.

Vending Machines—Food, Beverage, Tobacco Wholesalers.—Food, beverage (soft drinks, beer and wines, and distilled spirits), and tobacco wholesalers were requested to report, by commodity, the number of vending machines which they operated at the end of the year 1958. Statistics compiled from this inquiry are presented in table 8A. Similar information was developed in connection with the 1954 Wholesale Census. Data for the two Business Census years are summarized in the accompanying text table S, where it is noted that the number of machines operated by merchant wholesalers in these trades increased from 72,920 at the end of 1954 to 104,487 at the end of 1958. Increases were recorded in all categories except "Soft drinks and other beverages" where the number decreased from 7,181, to 6,631.

Grain Elevators Marketing Grain.—Table 8B presents 1958 information for country grain elevators primarily engaged in receiving grain from farmers by truck or wagon and forwarding it to market; and for terminal elevators of grain merchandising companies, that is, elevators receiving grain primarily by rail, barge, etc.

At the end of 1958 there were 7,690 elevators providing bin space and primarily engaged in marketing grain. Of this number, 690 were classified as terminal elevators and 7,000 as country grain elevators receiving grain from farmers and shipping it to market. Country elevators are divided into three classifications: 2,521 operated by cooperative associations, 2,232 independent country grain elevators (not operated by a cooperative association nor under an ownership having more than one elevator), and 2,247 country line elevators (parts of firms, other than cooperative associations, which operate more than one grain elevator).

The table is limited to grain elevators with bulk storage facilities and primarily engaged in receiving and marketing grain. Mill elevators, combination elevator-feed stores and storage elevators (public or private) are not included.

Kinds of Business—Merchant Wholesalers.—Table 8C of chapter 8 presents information on number of establishments, sales, inventories, operating expenses, payroll, and personnel by geographic divisions and States for 63 separate kinds of business. Included in the table are economically significant detailed kinds of business not identified separately in the State tabulations, Volume IV, 1958 Census of Business, nor in table 1J of this volume.

Administrative Offices and Auxiliaries—Tables 8G and 8H.—These tables present information for administrative offices (district, general, home, or other executive offices), research, development, testing establishments; central storage warehouses, detached buying offices, garages; etc.—establishments primarily engaged in providing services for wholesale trade establishments, but which are not primarily engaged in selling merchandise. Data in these tables are not included elsewhere in 1958 wholesale trade census publications.

GUAM AND THE VIRGIN ISLANDS

In addition to the conterminous United States, Alaska, Hawaii, Guam, and the Virgin Islands of the United States were covered in the 1958 Censuses of Business and Manufactures. Separate reports were issued for each of the two possessions presenting the findings for Business, Manufactures, and Mineral Industries. Wholesale Trade data from these reports are reproduced in tables T and U of this Summary.

PUBLIC WAREHOUSING

The number of establishments in conterminous United States—Alaska and Hawaii excluded—with one or more paid employees and primarily engaged in the public warehousing business increased from 7,408 in 1954 to 8,447 at the end of 1958. Revenue of these businesses increased from $744 million in 1954 to $936 million in 1958, or 25.8 percent; and payroll for the year, from $298 million to $358 million, or 20.2 percent.

Occupiable floor space available for public storage increased from 304 million square feet in 1954, the year of the most recent Census of Business prior to 1958, to 340 million, a gain of 12.1 percent. During the same period refrigerated space in public warehouses increased from 345 million to 364 million cubic feet, or 5.4 percent; and bulk liquid storage space, from 406 million to 428 million gallons, or 5.4 percent. The number of individual frozen food lockers installed in establishments classified as public warehouses at the end of the year declined slightly, from 1,362,245 at the end of 1954 to 1,220,323 in 1958.

Not included in the above figures were 25 central administrative offices primarily engaged, in 1958, in administering and servicing public warehouses of their companies. These 25 offices had 344 paid employees as of mid-November, and payroll for the year of $2,644,000.

In addition to the 8,447 establishments with one or more paid employees, there were 1,516 unincorporated firms without paid employees, in 1958, engaged in public warehousing, with revenue for the year of $17,272,000. See text table AF.

Public warehousing, as the term is used in this report, includes establishments primarily engaged in. Household goods warehousing and storage, including local trucking and storage; general warehousing and storage; refrigerated warehousing and storage, except food lockers; food lockers, with or without food preparation facilities; farm products warehousing and storage; and other special warehousing and storage. As indicated in "Procedures and Definitions", Appendix B, data are limited to establishments primarily engaged in performing warehousing and related services for the public. Public storage space in establishments engaged primarily in other industries (e.g., ice plants, poultry dressing plants, retail stores, wholesale warehouses providing some public storage space, etc.) is excluded.

Household goods warehousing and storage.—Of the 8,447 warehousing establishments, 1,980 were primarily engaged in storing and handling household goods, usually for home owners and users of the goods. Revenue for this class of establishment totaled $251 million dollars for 1958, up 24.3 percent from 1954. Payroll showed a similar increase, up 24.4 percent. Occupiable floor space available for public storage increased by 11 percent, from 51 million square feet at the end of 1954 to 56 million in 1958. During the same interval revenue per square foot increased, on the average, from $3,98 to $4.46. Net occupiable public floor space averaged about the same per establishment in both years, 28,000 square feet.

States recording the largest revenue in 1958 for this type of warehousing included: California, $36 million; New York, $34 million; Texas, $17 million; Illinois, $14 million, and New Jersey and Ohio, each with $10 million. States recording $5 to $10 million each, arranged in descending revenue-size order, were: Pennsylvania, Missouri, Florida, Washington, Michigan, Virginia, Massachusetts, Minnesota, and Louisiana. The 5 leading Standard Metropolitan Statistical Areas, in the order named, were New York, N.Y.; Los Angeles-Long Beach, Calif., Chicago, Ill.; San Francisco-Oakland, Calif.; and Washington, D.C.-Md.-Va.

Household goods warehousing and storage establishments are analyzed by employment size, 1958 and 1954, in the accompanying text table W where it is noted that the number of establishments increased primarily in the smallest bracket—1 to 3 paid employees—from 349 establishments in 1954 to 464 in 1958. Revenue in this size class increased 58.3 percent compared with an increase of only 24.3 percent for all employee sizes combined. All size brackets recorded gain in revenue, 1958 over 1954, except the "50 to 99 paid employees" class which showed a drop of 18 establishments, from 58 to 40, and revenue was off by 21.4 percent.

For this class of establishment as a whole, payroll as a percent of revenue remained the same in both years, 45.5 percent. Considered by size group, however, in the largest and in the smallest employment-size classes payroll as a percent of revenue increased—the "1 to 3 employees" size group, from 19.8 to 22.9, and the "100 and over" group, from 54.3 to 57.4. Likewise, the "8 to 19" group recorded an increase from 43.8 to 46.5 percent of sales. For the other employee-size groups payroll as a percent of sales decreased.

Household goods warehouses are classified by floor-space size in the accompanying table X where it is noted that 6 establishments each had 300,000 square feet or more devoted to public storage at the end of 1958; 12 additional establishments had 200,000 to 299,000 square feet so devoted; 65 establishments had 100,000 to 199,000 square feet; and 232 had 50,000 to 99,000 square feet. These 315 establishments reported over 50 percent of the storage space for the industry as a whole, but only about 40 percent of the revenue. Annual revenue per square foot for the 315 establishments averaged $3.50 compared to $4.46 per square foot for all household warehouses combined.

Annual revenue per square foot of floor space declined, but payroll as a percent of revenue tended to increase with an increase in floor-space size. Payroll as a percent of revenue is qualified, however, by the fact that no compensation for active owners of unincorporated businesses is included in payroll as recorded for census purposes. Allowances should be made for this factor when considering the relationship between payroll and revenue, particularly by floor-space size.

Of the 1,980 household goods warehousing establishments, 59 each had revenue of $500,000 or more for 1958, and 168 had revenue of $250,000 to $499,000. These 227 establishments reported revenue totaling $110 million, or 44 percent of the amount for the industry as a whole. As will be noted from the accompanying text table Y, annual revenue per square foot of floor space increased consistently with an increase in revenue size from a low of $0.94 per square foot for establishments in the "less than $5,000" bracket to $6.37 per square foot in the "$500,000 or more" revenue-size class. Payroll as a percent of revenue tended to remain fairly constant by size class.

Revenue of household goods warehouses is analyzed by source in table 10E where it is noted that more than one-half was from trucking alone; approximately one-third was from the storage of household goods; 5 percent from general merchandise storage; while the remainder was made up of special storage, sales of merchandise, and other sources.

At the end of 1958, 77.4 percent of the public floor space was assigned to household goods storage; 17.5 percent, to general merchandise; and 5.1 percent, to special storage.

General warehousing and storage.—At the end of 1958 there were 1,512 establishments primarily engaged in general warehousing and storage compared with 1,197 in 1954. Revenue for this class of warehousing increased from $172 million in 1954 to $201 million in 1958, or 17.1 percent, compared with an increase of 13.8 percent in payroll and 10.2 percent in floor space assigned to public storage. A comparative summary, 1958 and 1954, of this type of establishment is presented in table E by employment size. Here, as in the case of household goods warehousing, the increase in number of establishments occurred in the smaller employee-size brackets, establishments each with fewer than 20 employees. Correspondingly, revenue as a percent of total for all size brackets increased in the smaller employee groups. Payroll as a percent of revenue decreased slightly, from 47.6 percent in 1954 to 46.3 percent in 1958, but recorded a consistent increase by employment size for both years.

States recording revenue of $10 million or more in 1958 included New York, $25 million; Illinois, $18 million, California, $16 million; New Jersey, $17 million; Pennsylvania, $15 million; and Ohio, $11 million. Considered together, these 6 States accounted for 51 percent of the national total.

The extent of concentration of this type of warehousing in Standard Metropolitan Statistical Areas of 250,000 inhabitants or more is measured in table 10J where it is noted that as a group they contributed 88 percent of the revenue, 86 percent of the payroll, and 80 percent of the occupiable space, but only 54 percent of the population. Eight areas reported revenue of $5 million or more in 1958 in the order named New York, N.Y.; Chicago, Ill.; Philadelphia, Pa.-N.J.; Jersey City, N.J.; San Francisco-Oakland, Calif., Los Angeles-Long Beach, Calif.; Minneapolis-St. Paul, Minn.; and Boston, Mass. These 8 areas accounted for 37 percent of total general warehousing and storage revenue of the country, but only 20 percent of the population.

General warehousing and storage is measured by floor-space size in table AA which is shown below. Sixty-six establishments reported occupiable public floor space of over 300,000 or more square feet, 60 reported floor space of over 200,000 to 299,000 square feet, and 228 reported floor space of 100,000 to 199,000 square feet. The largest number of establishments, 374, was in the 20,000 to 49,000 square feet category, while the largest revenue, $54,724,000, was reported in the 100,000 to 199,000 square feet size break.

Revenue per square feet averaged $1.68, ranging from a low of $1.33 for establishments reporting more than 300,000 square feet of space to $9.81 for those reporting less than 5,000 square feet.

Annual payroll as a percentage of revenue averaged 46 percent. Those establishments reporting less than 5,000 square feet had the lowest percentage, 37 percent, and those reporting more than 300,000 square feet of space had the highest, 49 percent.

General warehousing and storage establishments are classified by revenue size, 1958, in table AB. A total of 218 establishments each reported revenue for 1958 of $250,000 or more. These 218 establishments reported $111 million in revenue, or 55.3 percent of the revenue for the classification. They also accounted for 55 percent of the annual payroll and over 45 percent of the occupiable floor space.

Revenue per square foot of floor space, except for the smallest revenue-size bracket, increased consistently with size from a low of 91 cents per year in the "$5,000 to $9,000" and the "$10,000 to $24,000" brackets to a high of $2.21 for the "$500,000 or more" class. The average for all groups was $1.68 per square foot.

Refrigerated warehousing, except food lockers.—Establishments, except food locker plants, primarily engaged in providing refrigerated space for the public increased from 577 in 1954 to 740 in 1958. Revenue, during the same interval, increased from $125 million to $141 million, or 12.7 percent.

This segment of the industry employed 13,677 persons on a payroll basis, plus 233 owners of unincorporated firms actively engaged in the business, or a total of 13,910 as of mid-November 1958. It provided 338 million cubic feet of refrigerated space and 13,275,000 square feet of floor space, plus 39,519 food lockers for public rental as of the end of the year.

States reporting $10 million or more revenue for the year 1958 included California, $20 million, New York, $18 million; and Illinois, $10 million. States reporting $5 million to $9 million, inclusive, were Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Texas, Wisconsin, Washington, Massachusetts, Michigan, and Ohio, in the order named. Revenue for these 11 States amounted to $98 million, or approximately 70 percent of the national total.

A comparative summary, 1958 and 1954, of refrigerated warehouses is presented in table H, by public refrigerated space size, where it may be noted that approximately one-half of the total space is in establishments each with 1 million or more cubic feet. The percentage was approximately the same in both census years.

The increase in number of establishments, 577 in 1954 to 740 in 1958, occurred in 7 of the 10 size groups, not including those out of business at the end of the year, indicating a general expansion by space size.

Revenue per cubic foot of refrigerated space changed only from 41 to 42 cents, 1954 to 1958, and in both census years the amount tended to drop as size, measured in cubic feet, increased. This may have been due to a decrease in proportion of related services with an increase in size. Payroll, expressed as a percentage of revenue, increased from 39.8 percent in 1954 to 41.8 percent in 1958, with the increases appearing in the larger and smaller space size brackets. Also, payroll as a percent of revenue was high in the large size brackets.

Refrigerated warehouses are classified by revenue size, 1958, in table AD, where it is noted that 65 establishments each had revenue of $500,000 or more, or a total of $53 million. An additional 126 establishments had revenue of $250,000 to $499,000, or a total of $44 million—a total of $97 million for the 191 largest establishments. These 191 establishments accounted for 68 percent of total revenue, 64 percent of refrigerated space, and 70 percent of the annual payroll of all refrigerated warehouses in the country. Annual revenue per cubic foot averaged 42 cents for all size groups, but higher in the smaller and larger revenue-size brackets. Payroll percent of revenue likewise was highest in the smallest and largest brackets, 45.5 percent in the "Less than $5,000" class, and 44.6 in the "$500,000 or more" group. It was lowest, 37.9 percent, in the "$10,000 to $24,000" bracket. Here, as in the case of other types of warehousing, no compensation of active owners of unincorporated businesses is included in payroll.

Food lockers, with or without food preparation facilities.—The number of establishments primarily engaged in the food locker business, with or without food preparation facilities, declined slightly, from 2,467 in 1954 to 2,300 in 1958. Revenue, however, increased by 10.0 percent. It should be noted in this connection that this classification includes only establishments with one or more paid employees, and primarily engaged in the "food lockers, with or without food preparation facilities" industry (SIC 4223), as described in the Standard Industrial Classification Manual issued by the Federal Bureau of the Budget.

States recording total revenue of $4 million or more for this class of establishment included Texas, Iowa, Illinois, California, North Carolina, Missouri, Wisconsin, and Indiana, in the order named. Revenue for these 8 States amounted to $49 million, approximately one-half of the total for the country.

Food locker plants are classified by size in table 10P, based upon number of lockers installed at the end of 1958.

Farm products warehousing and storage.—At the end of 1958 there were 1,517 warehouses and storage facilities primarily engaged in storing raw farm products (cotton, tobacco, grain, etc.), an increase of 436 over the corresponding number in 1954. The increase was most notable in grain elevators primarily engaged in storing grain for others—up from 232 in 1954 to 662 in 1958.

Revenue for this type of warehousing and storage increased from $127 million in 1954 to $206 million in 1958, or 62.4 percent. Cotton warehouses with compress machinery accounted for $96 million, cotton warehouses without compress machinery, $20 million, grain storage elevators, $75 million, tobacco warehouses, $10 million; with the remainder accounted for by potato and other farm products warehouses. Revenue of farm products warehousing and storage facilities is analyzed by source in table 10Q.

Nine States recorded revenue of $6 million or more for 1958. Texas, $77 million; Arkansas, $15 million, California, $13 million; Mississippi, $10 million, Tennessee, $10 million, Louisiana, $9 million, Kansas, $7 million, Georgia, $7 million, and Alabama, $6 million. Between 1954 and 1958, California replaced Mississippi for third rating, Tennessee exchanged sixth for fifth place with Louisiana, and Kansas moved ahead of Georgia for seventh position. Revenue for the 9 States amounted to $154 million, or more than 70 percent of the total for the country as a whole.

Other special warehousing and storage.—Revenue of establishments affording such specialized public storage as for bulk liquids (petroleum products, chemicals, etc.), automobiles (dead storage only), works of art, office records, goods in foreign trade, goods in bond, etc., totaled $37 million in 1958, up 33.8 percent from 1954.

Territories of Alaska and Hawaii.—As Alaska and Hawaii were territories in 1958, data for them are not included in the United States totals, however, data are shown for them in table 10R. Also, data are shown separately for the Honolulu Standard Metropolitan Statistical Area in tables 10F and 10J.

Revenue of public warehouses in Alaska amounted to $3,526,000 in 1958, compared with $1,633,000 in 1954; and in Hawaii, $1,484,000 in 1958, compared with $847,000 in 1954.

Unincorporated firms without paid employees.—There were 1,516 unincorporated firms without paid employees primarily engaged in public warehousing in 1958. Revenue of these establishments totaled $17 million. Most significant among the no-employee firms were "food lockers, with or without food preparation facilities": 1,054 establishments with $12 million revenue.

Central administrative offices.—Some companies operating one or more public warehousing and storage establishments maintain central administrative offices apart from such warehouses. In 1958 there were 25 of these central offices principally engaged in administering and supervising the activities of their public warehousing establishments. These offices had 344 paid employees as of mid-November 1958, and payroll for the year totaling $2,644,000. They reported revenue amounting to $2,010,000; revenue not credited to any of their warehousing establishments.

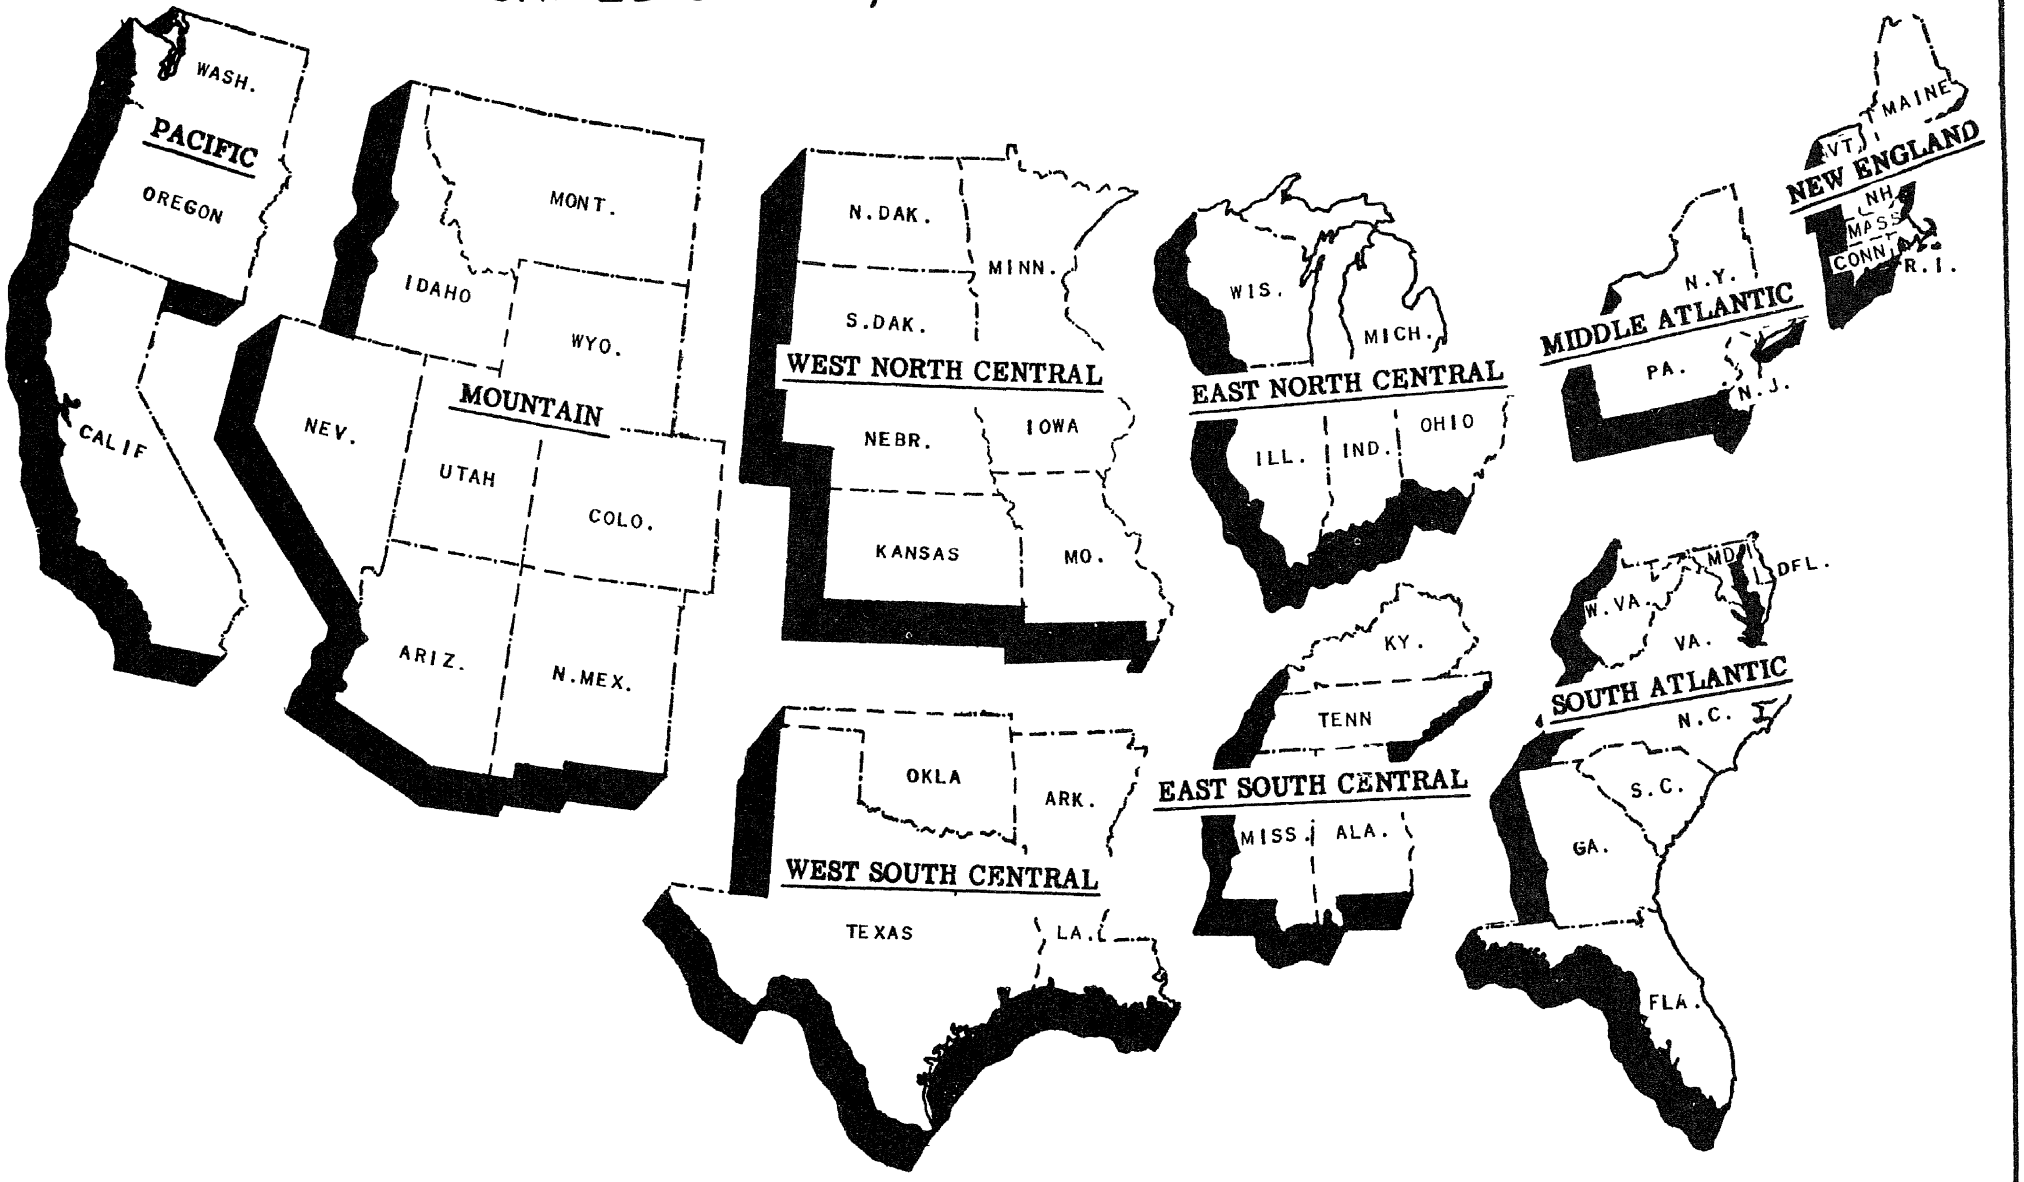
LIST OF CORRECTIONS



Volume III has been prepared primarily by assembling and binding the tabular portions of previously issued subject reports together with chapters covering additional phases of wholesale trade which were not issued in report form. This plan was adopted to reduce publication costs and to expedite issuing the data. The corrections and clarification of illegible data appearing below represent revisions noted after the individual subject reports were issued and should be taken into consideration in using Volume III and the subject reports from which it was assembled.
